

Expertise

In our early years, Singapore received valuable support and technical assistance from many other countries. We made use of the ideas that worked elsewhere and adapted them to our own situation. We made mistakes, learnt from them and developed pragmatic ways of problem solving.

In recent years, we have attracted the interest of other countries in our development model. We are happy to share our experiences and welcome the opportunity for such exchanges. Please view our range of expertise for more information about the sectors where we have received many enquiries from overseas. We hope the information will provide a useful outline of the public sector expertise that Singapore has developed.

We also welcome all highly-valued retirees / ex-civil servants with their invaluable expertise to partner with us in sharing our Singapore's experience with interested foreign parties. Please feel free to contact us for more information.
